

KAREN LARABEE WALLER
Principal and Partner

Karen Waller, the firm's resident partner in Dallas, is widely acknowledged to be one of the most sought-after and trusted counselors working today with philanthropic leadership. Corporate executives, foundation leaders, nonprofit CEOs and astute fundraising volunteers all continue to turn to Karen for guidance in shaping their organizational strategies and successfully competing within the highly competitive fundraising environment.

Each philanthropic community has its own distinct personality, drawing leadership and inspiration from nonprofits whose histories are deeply etched into the national landscape and from new organizations with shrewd plans and innovative ideas. These are the men and women shaping the future of our nation's premier schools, hospitals, universities, human service organizations and the cultural arts. Karen understands this culture and brings the depth of judgment to her clients that can only be achieved through vast market experience. Her innovative approach, coupled with her expertise, enables her to effectively serve a wide range of clients.

Karen's volunteer service on boards for the Center for Nonprofit Management, the Association of Fundraising Professionals, and the Entrepreneur's Foundation of North Texas further demonstrates her commitment to the business of philanthropy.
